

I have two rescue dogs, Maddie and Rupert, both cross Maltese Terriers.

Each came to me with their own special needs!!!

Helen has helped both of them.

Rupert - was about 4 when he joined my household. On his first visit to the vet, she warned me I would have problems with him because he loves dancing on his back legs. Within a year, she was treating him for back pain. It got so bad, he had to be hospitalised for a few days which upset him (and my bank balance). After he was released from hospital, I was given analgesics to treat his pain but they made him sick and the nausea made his back problem worse. He was soon in a cycle of almost constant pain. I was told I would have to gaoil him in a small dog cage for a week at a time but this seemed an awful punishment for a dog who loves to dance, run and play as much as possible. Helen treated Rupert with Bowen Therapy with significant improvement. Since then, he has only had one minor flare up .....

Maddie - was about 3 when she came to me and she had just had one of her back legs amputated. It was clear from the outset that she had been badly abused because she was frightened of my feet, my hands, loud noises and lots of other day to day things. Over four years, she had improved dramatically but has always licked a bit obsessively. About six months ago, I had a major career and lifestyle change. Not long after, I noticed that Maddie was almost constantly licking anything that was in reach of her tongue. I contacted Helen who, with the help of Kinesiology, prepared a flower essence remedy. Some of the essences within the remedy were for issues that had not occurred to me to mention to Helen. After two bottles of the remedy, Maddie has improved significantly. She is now better than she has ever been since living with me.
